This will be a unique summit for peer-to-peer learning and best practices from family office principals who are leading industry and investment professionals. This will be a highly valuable event for family principals and high-net-worth individuals who are either heavily engaged in environmental sustainability and conservation-related investments and philanthropy, or looking to interact with peers in order to learn more about the potential opportunity, industry trends, and lessons learned.

The EarthX Family Office Summit will host high-net worth individuals, family foundations, or family office principals with more than $100 million personal assets under management from the US, Latin America, and around the world. Invited family members will be able to invite one guest from their direct team with them, mainly a senior investment or philanthropy professional (e.g. Chief Investment Officer or Head of Philanthropy).
